

Week 1 - Assignment

Jane Dias

1. Problem List

1. Grocery bills are getting very high, and it is difficult to plan and budget for grocery shopping, budget for going out to eat, and eliminating food waste.
2. Dating apps are very popular, and despite their popularity, people I spoke to find them to be a common source of frustration in their life because they are not finding any luck, and feel like they want to give up on dating in general because of it
3. I spend too much time on my phone and on social media, and it impacts productivity, in person connection, social gatherings, and day to day life.
4. I have a problem with setting goals that are too big or unachievable at times, sometimes I set goals and they will fizzle out quickly due to a lack of motivation or focus on the goal.
5. I have thousands of photos in my camera roll and I don't know how to organize them, decide what I would like to delete, or a way to delete the ones I do not want or need quickly.
- 6: I spend a lot of money on clothes and I find it difficult to figure out what looks best on my body type, and what is too similar to what I already have and don't usually wear. I have a lot of clothes that I will only wear once, I don't think they don't look good on me, or I won't wear them at all. I was with some friends this weekend and we were all talking about this issue.

2. Top 3 Prioritized Problems

1. Problem 6: Clothing purchase inefficiency

Urgency: medium since it is tied to money and identity

Frequency: regular (monthly shopping decisions or daily outfit choices)

Willingness-to-pay: large existing and repeating spend on fashion and clothing

2. Problem 1: Grocery cost, planning and waste

Urgency: medium-high, people experience this every week when they grocery shop

Frequency: weekly, sometimes daily depending on meal planning

Willingness-to-pay: huge market with meal kits, budgeting apps, grocery delivery services, meal planning tools.

3. Problem 5: Photo organization

Urgency: low

Frequency: occasional, when storage fills.

Willingness-to-pay: people pay for various storage apps but mostly solve this problem with more storage rather than actually organizing and deleting.

3. Founder-Market Fit Statement

I experience this problem frequently as a budget-conscious student who regularly regrets clothing purchases and struggles to feel confident in making decisions about my wardrobe. I am able to connect with many women in my age range who feel similarly to me and share similar frustrations about overspending and the uncertainty of shopping alone or online. While I don't have technical or industry experience in fashion, I do feel that I have a strong understanding of the problem because it influences my life on a daily basis, since I feel strongly about the importance of dressing nicely and for my body type.
